THE EQUATION OF CHOOSING MODELS FOR PRODUCTION

by Lewis Polk

Aristo-Craft was the manufacturer in partnership with REA Trains, which was started in 1988. We settled with them in 1990, when we moved from Korea to manufacturing in China. At that point, we had six engineers of our own on staff and always designed our own molds.

Today, we still design some of our own molds, though now Sanda Kan produces them for us. We pay for the molds and develop the artwork, pad plates, instructions, packaging masks and miscellaneous production tools for every project.

My personal favorite item is the Mallet and I stared at an O Winston Link photo next to my desk for 6 years before we decided to produce it. This is an exquisite model of the Y6b Mallet as produced by the Norfolk & Western, though we did modify the trucks slightly to have both trucks articulated. This allowed the loco to manage 8' diameter track, which was an astounding engineering success for us. Our version does not require the front nose to swing out over the track, which looks unrealistic. It was a fair trade-off and the scale model effect was maintained.

It may be easy to think, though, that personal choice is the only deciding factor. However, it's not. So what is? The economy.

If we take the average cost of a mold set for cars at $100,000 and we only make 1,000 than each car costs us $100 just for R&D. This is not sustainable, so we set an estimate goal of 10,000 of each to be made lowering the R&D cost to $10 per car.

Selling less means a big loss on the project and selling more makes it viable. The condition of the economy, therefore, plays a big role in the amount of new product made and the timing of the releases. Locomotives cost several times that of the cars, but the 10,000 pieces still remains the key determiner in production.

Our next project will be the SW-1 diesel, which we are ready to start once the economy is strong enough to support the project. If we had a larger base of customers like 100,000, then the cost of the mold piece price is just $1 and thus becomes a non-factor in producing new product. As it stands now, the development cost is a major factor and the condition of the economy is crucial.

There are other costs like engineering time, overhead, advertising, rent, heat and electricity that cannot be calculated precisely, but do need to be taken into account as well. Hobby trains is not necessarily a normal business model, so normal rules don't always apply.

ECLSTS UPDATE by Harry Hartman

Happy new year and welcome to 2013! This March 22 & 23 will be the 19th East Coast Large Scale Train Show. Some of you have been around for all 19 shows. I cannot say that. I have been to 14 of them. With the 2013 show, this will make 15 for me.

Here we are staring down less than eight weekends and 75 days until the 2013 ECLSTS. We are receiving vendors applications and payments daily. All of the clubs that displayed last year are back again. We have been busy answering questions about the

Spring, 2013 East Coast Large Scale Train Show
Special Edition Show Car - available with 3 different road numbers.

ECLSTS to new vendors. We are looking for people who would be interested in presenting a seminar. Maybe you don't want to present a seminar but have always wanted to learn how to do something. Submit your topic and if we find several people wanting the same topic, we will search out a presenter. Remember these shows are not only for purchasing trains but also learning about various aspects of the hobby of Garden Railroading.

As mentioned before, the show cars are on order. They are a very colorful Plug-Door Boxcar. The show car will cost $60 each and come in three different road numbers. Remember, this year the show cars come with plastic wheels. I have been told some metal wheels will be available for separate sales.

The design for the t-shirt for the 19th ECLSTS is in. I have attached a picture of it. This t-shirt will be yellow with the Pennsylvania Brown (as close as we can get to it as possible). The t-shirts are a popular memento of the ECLSTS. It is neat to wear them and have someone come up to you and say, "Were you there too?" Since I have retired, I think I have more ECLSTS tee shirts than I have dress shirts in my closet.

As for the show, I have three new vendors to the show. From now until the day of the show, it will be a very busy time answering phone calls, answering emails and sending out show info to vendors. Remember, if you have a favorite vendor that has been at the show before or has never been to the ECLSTS, call them and ask them if they are going to the show in March. If they tell you no, ask them "Why not?"

You are the best advertisement we have for our shows. Your excitement for the shows help new people to come and the vendors to keep coming back. Hope to see you March 22 & 23, 2013. Next issue of the Insider, I will have the vendors list as of that date. Stay tuned and make plans to be there.

A Bit of History Part 6: The Aristo-Craft Railroad Club by Harry Hartman

Ever have one of those moments you look back over things you have done in the past and say, "I wish I would have!" or look back and want to "kick your can all over the place"?

Well, in 2001, the Aristo Craft Club is what happened to me. The Aristo-Craft Railroad Club offerings were two 1/29 scale cars; There was no 1/24 scale offering.

The club broke away from the past several years tradition of offering a "Track Maintenance Service" road names. Aristo-Craft Railroad Club started to move towards real railroad road names.

The 2001 club offerings were a 53' Evans Boxcar and 100-Ton Coal Hopper. These club cars came with metal wheels. The ad for the 2001 Aristo-Craft Railroad Club stated membership fee was $60 for a standard membership for either car or a gold membership fee was $120 for both cars.

This year, they added a platinum membership, which was for all four road numbers for that car. It also said if you were a platinum member for both cars, you would receive a free Aristo Craft sweatshirt. (Since I was not a Platinum member, I don't know what the sweatshirt looked like.)

It didn't matter what level of membership you were in, you still received the membership card, the membership certificate that was hand-signed by Lewis, and the current catalog.

The shipping boxes that these club cars came in had the Club Car info on one end of the box instead of both sides. What is interesting about these boxes that I have not mentioned before is that the cardboard coloring for the club cars is different than the regular run of Aristo-Craft Trains. All of the club cars came in a darker, a little more yellow cardboard.

What was new about these offerings was the roadname, and for the first time each car came in four road numbers. For both offerings, "America's Realistic Trains" was the roadname.

The 100-Ton Hopper was painted black and lettered in yellow. On the left end of the side of the hopper was a familiar big red Aristo-Craft Trains diamond. The Aristo-Craft number was ART41499 and the coal car road numbers were ARTX # 200110, 200112, 200114, and 200116. The Aristo-Craft build date mark was on the end of the hopper that does not have the brake wheel on it. This club offering was a very eye-pleasing design. It could very easily blend in with any coal drag on any empire.

A Bit of History Part 6: The Aristo-Craft Railroad Club

The second offering was a 53' Evans Double-Door Bo car. This is the car that I can "kick my can" over. At first look, I decided that it was a nice car and I didn't need all four road numbers. So I only purchased one coal car and one Evans boxcar. MISTAKE. The Evans boxcar is bright yellow with red ends and silver top. The Aristo-Craft item number was ART50099. The four road numbers were ARTX 200151, 200153, 200155, and 200157. (The 100-Ton cars were even numbers and the Evans Boxcars were odd numbers.)

The side of the club car was lettered with "Another Load Of Aristo-Craft, America's Realistic Trains" on the left-hand side, and on the right hand side was the red Aristo-Craft Trains diamond. There is a neat "When empty, return to Polk's Model Craft Hobbies Irvington, New Jersey" sign. Indications that this is a club car are found on both ends of the car. The Aristo-Craft built date mark is found on both ends also. I thought this was a nice break from the "Track Maintenance Service" lettering and as I said above I only purchased one of each.

Well, after receiving my club cars and then getting them out to run one afternoon, I looked at the box car again and thought, wow, wouldn't it be great to have a boxcar load of Aristo-Craft Trains delivered to my home for real. I really liked the looks of this boxcar and it blended in well with my other rolling stock. I liked it so much I was upset that I didn't order all four numbers.

The 2001 Aristo-Craft Railroad Club 53' Evans Box Car

So I started looking for the other three. I found one on Ebay and then two year ago at the ECLSTS, someone brought two of these beauties for TATE's "Orphan Trains Sale" and I did not have the road numbers in my wallet so I ended up buying both in hopes there were the numbers I needed. I also thought, what if they were both the numbers I already had? Well, I batted 50%. I had one and I needed the other one. I am still in search of #200157. I think these are the finest non-railroad roadnames Aristo-Craft produced for the club cars.

The Aristo-Craft Railroad Club train is growing longer each year. Stay tuned next issue as we look at another bold change Aristo-Craft Railroad Club takes to make the club cars more appealing to garden railroaders. Thanks for taking your time to read my viewpoint on the club cars and the Aristo-Craft Railroad Club.
